

Please, please don't allow this! It is not fair to trap people in planes where we are not able to escape the trivial unnecessary claptrap that phone users would subject us to. Please think of the majority of us who go out of our way not to offend others with our behavior. It seems that we drop down to the lowest levels in human behavior to accommodate those who care nothing about those around them. Just NOBODY is important enough to change this ruling for.